

Optical absorption of chalcogenide glassy photoresists As-S-Ge

S. Marian, D. I. Tsiulyanu

<https://doi.org/10.1109/ICMEL.1995.500837>

Abstract

The absorption edge of some chalcogenide glassy semiconductors (ChGS) As-S-Ge both in bulk and thin films is studied. The region of the Urbach tail is considered particularly as it determines the efficiency of photostructural transformations of ChGS used in high-resolution lithography.